

GLOBAL VIRTUAL NUMBERS

INTERNATIONAL CALL FORWARDING

Marketing your product and services abroad

How do you market your product or service in another country with no? The answer: Global Call Forwarding also known as 'virtual number call forwarding'. When you create pictures, charts, or diagrams, they also coordinate with your current document look.

Create a phone presence in another country

Virtual Number Global Call Forwarding enables you to create a presence in another country without the need for a physical location in that country.

Businesses are reaching out to international markets by establishing a virtual presence in countries through the use of local and toll free phone numbers. A very important sales obstacle that a business must consider is the long distance factor. Your potential customer may be located in a far off country but your business is based in Canada. Why not offer them local or toll free numbers in their country so they can call you at no cost to them?

Your customers are more likely to call you using a free local or toll-free number in their country rather than dialing a international long distance phone number with the associated fees. Many potential customer will simply search for a company that offers a 'free' contact phone number.

It can also be beneficial to create a local presence with a local phone number in a country or city in a market where you have determined that your company has a growing customer base or where you may want to provide, for example, a local customer service number, -a current practice among many international enterprises.
